Cabin Cruiser Being Built by Three Local Men

The Harrisburg Navy is just about ready to engage in the Battle of the Ohio. And if it comes out victorious it probably will be dispatched into what will be the Battle of Kentucky lake.

It's just a three-man navy we have here but it has plenty of equipment for battle. The trio has just about completed a cabin cruiser which is quite a boat.

The three local men are Kenneth Keith, Kenneth Davis and John Raley, otherwise known as Sinbad the Sailor and Tugboat. Maybe Sinbad is the better name for Raley, because when and if you see the cabin cruiser you'll know he's graduated from the Tugboat class.

Timmo yesterday went down to the building Orval Nelson built in North Harrisburg which recently was sold to the Pankey Bakery. There the big boat is being built and a check of its dimensions and the huge overhanging door reveal that the boys are going to get it out, all right, although some of the appendages will have to be installed on the outside, and a couple will have to wait until the craft is dropped into the water.

Name of the cabin cruiser is At-Last, named because after the three men had discussed such a possibility for two or three years, at last it has been built.

Keith was telling me that it all started back at a time when Davis and Raley were discussing the possibility of building cabins on Kentucky lake. Keith then suggested a cabin cruiser, which could be used as a cabin at different places instead of at just one spot.

A little over two months ago things got definite. They had no plans, but Keith, using the general design of one of a Chinese sloop, spent two weeks putting his plans and specifications on paper. Then the trio got busy in the Nelson building and hope to have it finished around the first of September.

It will be moved by truck to the Ohio river, and will be launched either at Elizabethtown or Cave-in-Rock.

The craft is a Class II cabin cruiser, 30 feet six inches long and nine and a half feet across. It will be powered by two 25-horsepower outboard gasoline motors and there will be storage for 36 gallons of gasoline. The outer cruiser is covered with plywood, with the lower part of it and the seams covered with plastic glass to make it leakproof.

Inside are two rooms. The back room, the largest and the tallest, contains sleeping bunks for four persons, a sink, kitchenette containing a sink, running water, electric refrigerator and three-burner

Mourners and Police Clash at Rio De Janeiro

Body of President Flown to Provincial Town for Burial

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Military police and crowds of mourners for the late President Getulio Vargas clashed at Santos Dumont Airport and in downtown Rio De Janeiro today, killing one person and injuring 38 others.

The first clash occurred at the airport as the body of the president who shot himself Tuesday was flown to the provincial town of Sao Borja for burial.

The police fired over the heads of the crowd, driving it back from the runway as the private two-engine plane took off.

There were no casualties at the airport, but several persons faint.

Mob Marches Downtown

The crowd, estimated at tens of thousands lining the 1½ mile route from the presidential palace to the airport, then marched downtown.

Near the center of the city the police and demonstrators clashed again, and one man was killed. Two men were hospitalized with bullet wounds.

The crowd surged into the center of the city until it reached the Cinelandia Esplanada, the square in which many motion picture houses are located.

The demonstrations which began Tuesday after Vargas committed suicide have resulted in four deaths and wounds or injuries to 53 persons.

The Cinelandia Esplanada is only one block from the American Embassy, which was attacked Tuesday. A heavy guard was around the embassy building today.

The crowds along the route to the airport and at the airfield were quiet until just before the plane bearing Vargas' body took off. Then they surged through police lines for a last look at the casket as it was loaded on the DC3.

More Americans Attend Church Yearbook Shows

NEW YORK (AP)—More Americans than ever before—59.5 per cent of the population—were members of churches and synagogues in 1953, the Yearbook of American Churches reported today.

Only 20 per cent of the population were listed as church members in the middle of the last century, the yearbook said. The figure was 49 per cent in 1940.

Protestant denominations claim more than 55 million or 35.1 per cent of the population, according to the yearbook; more than 31 million or 19.8 per cent of continental Americans are listed as Roman Catholics. The ratio between Roman Catholics and Protestants has remained fairly constant over the years, the editors said. Jewish groups list 5 million members.

The average annual contribution by members of Protestant and Orthodox churches was $41.94 per person, the yearbook reported, an 8.9 per cent increase over 1952.

Although 255 religious groups were included in the statistics, the yearbook said 98.2 per cent of the church members are in 77 of the groups and about 85 per cent of all Protestants are included in nine general denominational families.

Largest of the Protestant denominations listed was the Baptist, with 17,990,613 persons in 25 Baptist bodies. Following them were: Methodist (21 bodies), 11,641,891; Lutheran (20 bodies), 6,608,951; Presbyterian (10 bodies), 3,635,077; Protestant Episcopal, 2,550,831; and Eastern Orthodox (19 bodies), 2,100,171.

Roman Catholic church was listed with 31,476,261 members.

The Kiwanis club will receive all receipts from the Harrisburg Drive-In next Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 1 and 2, for the summer baseball program the club sponsors for local boys.

The club is urging the support of the public in this money-raising effort to pay expenses of the summer program which provides recreation for more than 300 boys who took part in the baseball games at the town park and Taylor Field this summer. Expenses for a summer program as large as this cost the club considerable money and in addition a summer baseball school was held to teach the young

Recover Body Of Wm. Pate, 64, From Ohio River

Evidence Points
To Suicide by Harrisburg Man

A body identified as William Pate, 64, was recovered yesterday from the Ohio river between Cave-in-Rock and Elizabethtown, and Coroner J. L. Hosick of Hardin county said all evidence led to suicide. It was believed the local man jumped into the river Saturday night.

Coroner Hosick today had a note written by Pate, in which he said his house trailer and its possessions should be turned over to Sam Knight and it was learned that when the body was recovered, a sack filled with bricks and iron weights was tied with a rope around his waist.

Ill health was presumably the motive, the coroner stated.

Pate, who lived in Dorrisville on South Webster street several years ago, had resided at various places since then, but two or three weeks ago returned to Harrisburg to make his home, it was learned. He lived alone.

Friends in this area today reported to Coroner Hosick that Pate had told them he suffered from cancer and that if the agony got too great, he would kill himself.

Saturday, it was learned, he rode a truck to Elizabethtown, then rode on to Cave-in-Rock in a truck driven by Louie Questelle of Harrisburg.

While riding along, Coroner Hosick stated, Pate put a note in the glove compartment of the truck, which was not removed at the time. It was not a suicide note, but more of a will, which gave his trailer and its possessions to Mr. Knight in case of his death. The trailer has been parked just north of Rudement.

At Cave-in-Rock, it was believed, Hosick said, Pate took a boat and jumped from it into the river.

The body was spotted by crew members of the riverboat, Camilla H. Its captain, W. F. Tucker of Paducah, sent two crew members in a row boat to make sure and then Sheriff J. T. Hearrell of Hardin county was called.

The body was moved to the Hosick funeral home at Rosiclare.

Stevenson Writes Personal Letter To Mendes-France Urging EDC Approval

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, said today that he had written a personal letter to French Premier Pierre Mendes-France because he was "alarmed by developments in France with respect to EDC."

"I thought he might be interested in my views as a member of the opposition party, although I was just a private citizen. I wanted to assure him that EDC was not a partisan matter in America and that Secretary Dulles spoke for all of us on the European Defense Community plan which was developed during the Democratic administration."

Stevenson issued a statement here to clarify reports he had written to the French premier. In his statement, Stevenson said he was in favor of the French ratification of the EDC.

The Democratic leader said he wanted to assure Mendes-France that EDC was not a partisan matter in the United States. He said the letter was not instigated by the State Department nor did they see it, although he had checked Secretary of State John Foster Dulles through an intermediary "to make sure such a letter would cause no embarrassment."

Stevenson was at his home in Libertyville, Ill., but he issued the statement through William McCormick Blair, who was his administrative assistant during Stevenson's term as governor of Illinois in 1948-52.

The text of the statement: "I wrote a personal letter to my friend Mendes-France with whom I had had several long talks dur-

JC Chief Sees Moral Decay By Comic Books

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—E. Lamar Buckner, national president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, charged today that "lewd and lawless" comic books threaten to spread "moral decay" among the nation's children.

Buckner blamed careless parents for not asking "what kind?" when their children asked for a dime to buy a comic book.

Buckner said the danger in these comics is the "power of suggestion" of lurid stories based on sex, crime and murder.

"Throughout history, the fall of every great power—Persia, Greece, Rome or France—has been preceded by a moral collapse from within," he said. "If we are to shield ourselves from the same collapse, we must make sure the leaders of the future develop a high moral integrity."

Buckner said the comic book "pictures beyond the reach of the young imagination" methods and means of the criminal or immoral mind.

"Comics seem to glorify in their ability to produce lawless situations, and to idolize the individual who circumvents the law," he said. He blamed the existence of such comics on parents who fail to supervise their children's reading material and on publishers who justify sale of the books under freedom of the press.

"That freedom has always been subject to the right of civilized society to protect itself from conditions injuring the health, welfare and morals of the people," he said.

Third Candidate In Race for Gallatin Sheriff

A third candidate has entered the Gallatin county race for sheriff. He is Henry "Dutch" James, whose filed petition for candidacy on the Independent ticket has gone uncontested and will be placed on the ballot.

James, one time Gallatin county sheriff, lost his bid for the Republican nomination in the April primary to Millard Holloway, another former sheriff. Aubrey "Wardy" Willis is the Democratic nominee.

The Independent candidate filed his nomination papers several days ago. No objections, which must be in writing within five days following the filing deadline, were made, and officials announced James would be listed on the ballot.

Mitchell Agrees To Testify To Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell has accepted a challenge to appear before a congressional committee to back up his "scandal" charges against the proposed Dixon-Yates power contract.

Mitchell told Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) of the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee that he would be "glad" to appear before the committee to present 10 questions he has raised against the contract.

Cole urged Mitchell to testify at hearings on the contract the committee has scheduled for Sept. 2. Cole said he extended the invitation because of Mitchell's "repeated intemperate charges against President Eisenhower."

Mitchell said the contract, negotiated between the Atomic Energy Commission and private power syndicate, smacks of favoritism. At one time he suggested President Eisenhower may have been influenced in ordering the contract because his close friend, golfer Bobby Jones, is a director of one of the firms involved.

Under the proposed contract, the AEC would purchase 600,000 kilowatts of power annually from the Dixon-Yates combine for delivery into the Tennessee Valley Authority system to "replace" a like amount of TVA power going to AEC plants.

Mitchell said Cole's reference to the questions as "intemperate charges," seems to show Cole has prejudged the case and raises doubts over his "ability to conduct an impartial hearing."

Mitchell also expressed "grave doubts" about committee consideration of the contract while Congress is not in session. Noting this would require a waiver of existing law, he said Cole's telegram to him indicated the chairman and his GOP colleagues intend to pass such a waiver "knowing full well that all Democratic members have left Washington either to campaign or to take vacations in distant places."

A charter was issued on Nov. 19 of that year. It is signed by C. A. Keller, Grand Master, and N. C. Nason, Grand Secretary at that time.

Lowman lodge at the present time, of which Ralph Hull is noble grand, and Ralph Reynolds is secretary, has 25 members. Midway lodge has more than one hundred members, and the addition of the Somerset membership is expected to increase its strength very appreciably.

Promises Labor Leaders Help In Public Works

County Delegation
Tells Governor
3,800 are Jobless

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A Saline county organization had Gov. William G. Stratton's promise of aid today in getting public works projects to relieve southern Illinois unemployment.

Leaders of labor's Association for Industrial Development visited the Governor Tuesday to ask him to contact federal agencies and see if any government projects can be obtained for the area.

H. B. Pack, Eldorado, association secretary, said the Governor told the group he would ask Washington if that were possible.

Pack said the group agreed to send the chief executive details about a Saline River drainage project which has been okayed by Army engineers. He said a local drainage district would have to be formed to get federal matching funds for the project.

Pack said 3,800 workers are jobless in Saline county, 2,800 of them coal miners left unemployed by mine closings.

Stratton said he "didn't see any reason why" the 1955 legislature shouldn't increase unemployment compensation to $30 or $35 a week, Pack said.

Delegation leaders included Gus Matthews, Eldorado, vice chairman; Tom Falk, Eldorado, treasurer; Wilbur Brown, Harrisburg, Progressive Mine Workers District 11 board member; William H. Crompton, PMW member, and Guy Price of the retail clerks' union.

State Reps. G. William Horsley (R-Springfield), Gordon E. Kerr (R-Brookport), Paul Powell (D-Vien-na), and W. O. Verhines (D-Vien-na) accompanied the delegation.

Nursery Owner Fined $17,000; Year in Jail

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—James W. Owen, operator of what was termed the nation's biggest mail order nursery business, received a 17 thousand dollar fine and one year in jail today for using the mails to defraud.

Federal Judge Charles G. Briggie denied Owen's motion for probation, declaring the "overriding consideration is the public welfare, and society generally demands more than a fine for this man."

Briggie said Owen should pay one thousand dollars and costs on each of the 17 counts on which the nurseryman was convicted, and serve a year in jail.

Defense Atty. Arthur M. Fitzgerald had moved for probation, because of the Bloomington nurseryman's "close-knit" family ties with his wife and three children. But Briggie turned him down.

Briggie said "the consideration of the welfare of these three children is painful in the extreme" but society demanded more than a fine.

Owen was indicted 13 months ago on 20 counts of mail fraud. The indictment charged he bilked customers by misrepresenting his stock in ads, sending poor-grade plants and trees to buyers, and trying to stall off dissatisfied customers who sought refunds.

Briggie heard the case without a jury. He took it under advisement July 12, after 23 days of testimony from about 200 persons. After the sentencing, Fitzgerald immediately moved for a new trial and to vacate the judgment. Briggie set a hearing on these motions for next Thursday, Sept. 2.

Fitzgerald also asked for a 60-day stay of execution to allow Owen to pay the fine and "clean up business matters." Briggie said he had "no objection to a reasonable stay of execution" to be granted after next Thursday's hearing.

Owen was released on three thousand dollars bond previously posted.

Ike and GOP Control

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Some Washington observers conclude that President Eisenhower is making pretty fair progress, all things considered, in his effort to stamp his image upon the Republican Party.

Others might be inclined to disagree, arguing that if he'd been tougher he would now be farther along toward real command of his party.

Whatever the true measure of Mr. Eisenhower's achievements as a party chieftain, this much cannot be doubted: the elements in the GOP which oppose him are not giving up the fight. They are evidently preparing to battle harder, for party control next year than ever before.

The tip-off on that came when Senator Bricker re-introduced recently his proposal to curb the President's treaty-making powers.
As the famed Bricker amendment, this create a vast stir in Congress last winter, and sharply divided the Republicans in the U. S. Senate and elsewhere.

Bricker this time has further modified the proposal, which went through several modifications in the effort to push it across earlier.
But it is highly unlikely that Mr.
Eisenhower and his supporters will wind the measure any more palatable in its altered form.

Apparently Bricker understands this, as do the many who back him. This means they are ready to fight the President again next year on this explosive issue, with the clear knowledge that it will throw the party into another divisive contest.

Since this is plain, one must assume that Bricker and other non-Eisenhower politicians would not put their strength against the President unless they believed they had enough to win. They must think that, for there could be no charm for them in the prospect of another losing engagement.

Moreover, the President's party opposition — largely conservatives and the more extreme rightists — must also be convinced that supporting one's President is secondary to achieving certain fixed goals. In this evident view, the important thing is the triumph of a set of long-held principles.

But some Republicans who originally were not for Mr. Eisenhower and who may privately disapprove some of his views do not have the attitude apparently held by the Bricker and similar forces.
These men feel the important thing is to support the first GOP President in 20 years, to help him build a strong record and have a successful administration.

These men fortify Mr. Eisenhower's all-out supporters. Indeed, they furnish crucial assistance in the effort to set him up as both a national and a party leader.

And, obviously, the President will need all the aid he can get when next January comes and he must once more contend against those in his party who feel that they — not he — should lead and should determine policy.

Must Build for Long Defense, AMVETs Advised

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Approximately 1,500 veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict met here today for the 10th annual AMVET convention.

Assistant Secretary of Defense
Fred A. Seaton delivered the keynote address.

Seaton told newsmen Tuesday night that the Defense Department is preparing a program to improve the nation's reserve forces. Although he did not outline details, he said it is "designed to provide a ready and active reserve."

The Defense official said the program will be presented to the next Congress.

Other scheduled speakers during the five-day meeting include Lt.
Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, superintendent of the Air Force Academy, Harvey W. Higley, head of the Veterans Administration, and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. Ambasador to the United Nations.

Lodge will speak at the closing session Saturday.

No "Year of Crisis" Goal

Seaton, in his afternoon address, said the free world must also be ready to resist the "political, ideological and economic assaults of a determined and resolute enemy."

"We must continue to take advantage of our technological, economic, and inventive superiority in the maintenance of the best possible weapons," he said.
But he warned that the United States must realize "economic considerations do impose limitations on our military strength."
"By a selective, carefully regulated buildup of our combatant forces and by the common sense of husbanding our resources in material, manpower and money, we are building real strength for the long term."

The Defense Department, he said is no longer aiming at a particular "year of crisis" or "period of maximum danger."

"We are now planning and proceeding on the sound theory that it makes little sense for us to build to peak strength on a crash basis in a situation where the potential aggressor has the choice of when

Why didn't Grandpa have a tile bath?

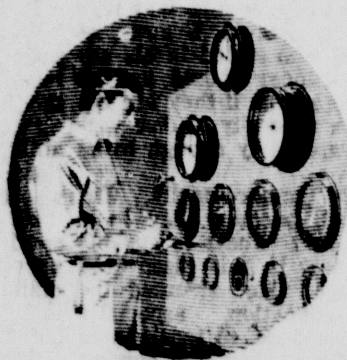

TEXAS EASTERN SERVES THE COMPANIES THAT SERVE YOU

Thirty hours of baking at 2000° F. transforms clay into tile.
Color glazes are then baked on in similar natural gas-fired kilns.
Gas for the Atlantic Tile Manufacturing Co., is supplied by New Jersey Natural Gas Company, a customer of Texas Eastern.

You probably take tile for granted. But in grandpa's time, tile was costly — seen only in mansions and public buildings. Now, thanks to mass production, the most modest new home usually boasts tile in the kitchen and bathroom. To mass produce its high quality product, Atlantic Tile requires a source of heat that's clean, abundant and economical. That's why all of Atlantic's kilns are fired with natural gas.

BITTER SAGE

By Frank Gruber

Copyright 1954 by Frank Gruber

THE STORY: The lawless town of Sage City has a conscience in Luke Miller, editor of a weekly newspaper. But Miller's efforts to clean up the town are balked by Jacob Fugger, unscrupulous businessman who has made a fortune off cowboys who drive cattle herds from Texas to Kansas. Fugger is trying to drive Miller out of business and has even sabotaged his presses. Working as a printer for Miller is Wes Tancred, under the assumed name of John Bailey. Tancred is the slayer of the notorious but popular outlaw Sam Older. Tancred has just met Wild Bill Hickok, famous Kansas marshal, at target practice at the edge of Sage City and Hickok already has demonstrated his skill with a pistol.

XVII

Kinnaird drew his revolver, took careful aim at the target and fired. The scorers examined the target carefully, then waved arms to indicate a miss. Kinnaird counted out the money.

as Wild Bill smiled thinly. "There's a bit of a breeze," said Kinnaird, "makes it hard to figure at the range."

"Let's see Bailey try it," suddenly jeered Manny Harpending. "He's so good with a gun, let's see what he can do."

Tancred shook his head. "I haven't got a gun."

"Use the marshal's," cried Harpending. "Let's see if that Turkey Crossing story was poppycock or not."

"Turkey Crossing!" cried Wild Bill. "Of course, John Bailey, eh?" He shook his head. "The name was a new one to me, when I read about that in the Wichita paper and frankly, I..." He suddenly beamed. "I'll lend you my gun, Mr. Bailey. It shoots as straight as any gun can shoot."

"I haven't got $50," Tancred said.

"Forget the money," Wild Bill said, earnestly. "I'm anxious to see you shoot." He tendered his revolver, butt first.

Tancred made no move to take the gun. Harpending moved forward. "Come on, Bailey. Let's see you shoot!"

Several of the cowboys took up the chant. Kinnaird whispered to Tancred. "Maybe you'd better try it, Bailey."

"I've never fired a Frontier Model," protested Tancred.

"You're a Navy gun man, eh? Well, I don't blame you. They've never made a gun like them," stated Kinnaird.

"This is a good gun, Mr. Bailey," Wild Bill Hickok said, gently. "I wouldn't use it myself if it wasn't."

Harpending said with a sneer, "Yellow, Bailey?"

Tancred accepted the revolver from Hickok.

A hush fell upon the augmented crowd of spectators. Tancred raised the gun, thrust it out ahead of him at arm's length and fired.

The scorers rushed their horses to the target and one or two dismounted to examine the target closely. A sudden yelp of astonishment went up that carried back to the firing line.

"That's shooting, Mr. Bailey," said Wild Bill Hickok, thoughtfully. Tancred glanced at Manny Harpending. The Texan's sneer had gone. In his eyes was a look of doubt... and fear.

Tancred handed the gun back to Wild Bill Hickok and walked away. The cowboys moved aside to give him a clear passage. Kinnaird followed Tancred.

Behind them a man came running. "Mr. Bailey," he called.

Tancred looked over his shoulder. The man was Packard, who owned the Boston Store.

"I saw your shooting, Mr. Bailey," exclaimed Packard.

The former marshal grinned. "You saw mine, too."

"I know. If you don't mind, Mr. Kinnaird, I'd like to talk to Mr. Bailey alone."

"Go right ahead," Kinnaird started away, but Tancred detained him with an outstretched hand.

"I don't mind Lee hearing, Mr. Packard."

"I guess it really doesn't matter. Kinnaird's turned in his marshal's badge, which indicates that he isn't on Jacob Fugger's side at least. Anyway, it won't be a secret much longer. The fact is, Mr. Bailey, I've been talking to a few of the people around town and we're getting up a slate of candidates to run against Fugger and his crowd. Luke Miller's down for mayor and—well, we haven't a name yet for sheriff."

"No," said Tancred, bluntly. "The office is good for six or seven thousand a year."

"I'm not interested, Mr. Packard," Tancred said, shaking his head. "I'm a printer."

Packard let out a slow sigh. "Well, it was a good idea. The marshal, of course, is appointed by the mayor and the city council but the sheriff's office is an elected one and I'd hoped..." He shrugged. "Thank you, just the same, Mr. Bailey."

Tancred was lying on his cot, looking at the ceiling of the print shop when someone rattled the doorknob. He sat up and peered toward the door, then exclaiming, got to his feet.

Wild Bill Hickok was outside the door. Tancred unlatched the door and Hickok came in. "I've always been a curious man, Mr. Bailey," he said. "Guns are my business. I've practiced with them since I was knee-high to a prairie dog. I've fired against some of the best men in the country. I haven't been beaten in a good many years till you beat me today."

"It was a lucky shot, Mr. Hickok. And I didn't beat you. Lee Kin-

Heat Wave Covers Midwest

By United Press
A muggy heat wave covered the Midwest today, but in long-suffering Texas and Oklahoma the temperature failed to hit 100 for the first time in weeks.

Flood waters caused by heavy rains still posed threats in some areas. The Rio Grande, scene of a disastrous flood earlier this summer, was swollen and bridges were closed at Presidio and Del Rio. However, no serious danger was expected.

Temperatures were above the seasonal average in nearly all the country's central section. High humidity made the heat even more oppressive in many areas.

However, a cool front in the Northwest dropped temperatures as much as 14 degrees and another cool wave promised to spread southward from northern Minnesota.

Violent storms struck some Midwest cities and, at Hammond, Ind., a wind squall described as a "baby twister" raked a fashionable residential district. A five-year-old girl was injured when a picture window was blown out and pinned her to a sofa without breaking.

gas stove. The pilot's seat, which has a control board in front of it, sits high in a corner of this room where the pilot can look out a window glass. The front room is smaller, containing two bunks and a dressing table.

On top is a sun deck, with ladder leading to it, and this will have a rail around it. The lighting for this type of cruiser is quite complex. There are two lighting systems, one 110 and the other a six-volt system.

The cruiser will have walnut trim throughout.

The boys have been devoting their evenings and week-ends to working on the boat and soon the fruit of their labor is going to get its feet wet.

TOO BAD DEPT.: State Policeman Guthrie Alexander of Harrisburg and State Policeman Boyd of Pinckneyville were slated to have an unusual honor at the state fair at Springfield last week but destiny was not on their side.

The two officers had been assigned to stand on each side of President Eisenhower as he delivered his address there. They were there on the platform and ready to do their part when the crowd down in front began surging forward and the 50 police assigned to hold them back needed reinforcements.

The two officers were among those hurriedly assigned to the duty of holding back the crowd and there they remained during the President's address.

Eastland Wins In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Sen. James O. Eastland, a segregationist pledging to fight for limited Supreme Court powers, today claimed a sweeping victory for renomination to a third term over Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin.

Gartin, who had charged Eastland of "absenteeism" and siding with Republicans in Congress, conceded defeat Tuesday night.

Returns from 1,658 of the state's 1,805 precincts gave Eastland 133,602 to 80,409 for Gartin.

Eastland, 49-year-old cotton planter, said "a national organization" of states rights leaders will be formed to support his proposed amendment to the Constitution, designed to curb the powers of the Supreme Court.

The senator asserted that Gartin was supported by the CIO which he said was aligned with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in an effort to defeat him "and break down segregation and southern social traditions."

Gartin, 40, former mayor of Laurel, waited until near the end of the race to charge that Eastland "is a part-time senator who votes Republican as much as he does Democratic."

Red Chinese Dictator Lists Demands to Attlee

LONDON (AP)—Red Chinese dictator Mao Tse-tung made known Tuesday the reasons why his regime invited eight British Labor Party members to visit his country.

Mao got down to business quickly with Clement Attlee, former Prime Minister, and others in the group by demanding withdrawal of American warships from the Strait of Formosa, a "more reasonable" U. S. foreign policy and a halt to rearmament plans for West Germany and Japan.

It was the first interview Mao has granted to Western politicians since the Communists took over in China five years ago.

British newspapers reported today there was nothing new in Mao's demands, but considered them sensational because he put them bluntly to Attlee, who he believes will return to power.

"This is a sensational series of demands," the Daily Express said in a dispatch from its correspondents accompanying the British delegation.

Other British correspondents reported from Peking that the Chinese Communists are confident the Labor Party will win the next British election.

There was no immediate comment by the British press which noted in adjacent columns that U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has extended the American defense line around Formosa to include several small mainland-held islands near the mainland.

Democrats Hope To Unseat Velde, Mitchell Says

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said today party leaders are "hopeful" of unseating Republican Harold H. Velde, Chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Mitchell spoke at a luncheon meeting of Democratic leaders from the 18th congressional district, which Velde, from nearby Pekin, represents.

Mitchell said national Democratic leaders feel Velde's Democratic opponent, Howard S. Beene, Peoria, "has a good chance of winning—that's why I'm here."

Mitchell will address a dinner rally tonight at Spring Valley.

Mitchell also said U. S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas is in a "strong position to win" in November. Nationally, he said "adversity has brought the Democratic party together."

He said the "growing dissatisfaction and one-sided character of the national administration will ultimately prove the margin of victory for the Democrats in the national house."

Mitchell credited Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 candidate for President, with much of the work of reuniting the party and said Stevenson has raised "about $700,000" for the party on his speaking tours.

Fire Explodes Artillery Shells in Freight Car

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—A boxcar loaded with 900 heavy artillery shells caught fire Tuesday night in the Springfield, Mo., railroad yards.

The fire, which touched off a series of explosions, was put out before midnight, but firemen watched smoldering debris through the night to prevent a flareup.

No "direct casualties" were reported to police, but one man suffered a heart attack and a small girl was injured when struck on the head by plaster which fell from the ceiling of her home.

The fire, in a car loaded with 105 mm. howitzer shells, was discovered just before the St. Louis-San Francisco railway freight was to have left for St. Louis. The burning ammunition car was pulled to an isolated section of the yards and detached from the train.

The flames were visible and the explosions were heard for several miles and persons living in a nearby residential section were advised to leave their homes. Police said several houses and automobiles were damaged by shell fragments. Several homes caught fire from sparks, but the flames were put out.

Indiana Man Heads Moose

CHICAGO (AP)—Ray V. Gibbons, Anderson, Ind., was elected Supreme Commander of the Loyal Order of Moose today at the order's 66th annual international convention.

Others elected by the 12 thousand delegates were:

Paul E. McCarville, Fort Dodge, Iowa, supreme junior governor; George W. Young, Spokane, Wash., supreme prelate; Ellie Keller, Lebanon, Pa., and John C. Meikle, Washington, D. C., supreme councilmen. All officers were selected for the 1954-1955 term.

Former Shawneetown Boy is Killed in Motorcycle Accident

James Curtiss Sheet, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sheet, former residents of Shawneetown but recently of Chester, died Monday at 10 p. m. in a Chester hospital as a result of injuries received when he was riding on a motorcycle driven by Hollis Minton Jr., 16, also of Chester, which plunged down an embankment.

The body will be returned to Shawneetown Thursday morning where it will lie in state from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m. at which time the funeral will be held. Rev. Edward Miner, a Methodist minister, will officiate, and burial will be in the Westwood cemetery.

Eisenhower to Signal Start of Work On A-Power Plant by Remote Control

SHIPPINGPORT, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower will signal the start of construction on the nation's first peacetime atomic power plant when he operates a remote control switch in Denver on Labor Day.

Mr. Eisenhower will take part in the ceremonies from the Summer White House at Denver by passing a radioactive wand through an electronically operated bulldozer which will scoop out the first chunk of earth.

Prior to setting the construction machinery in motion, the President will deliver a five-minute talk, to be broadcast and televised nationally, on the theme:

"How Atomic Power Can Be Put to Use Peacefully for the Production of Our Country, and Eventually the World."

The Duquesne Light Co. of Pittsburgh said its engineers have not completed construction designs for the multi-million dollar plant and indicated it would be some time before major construction work begins at the 400-acre site on the Ohio river, 25 miles northwest of Pittsburgh.

The Atomic Energy Commission has set 1957 as the tentative date when the utility will start transmitting the first atomic-produced electricity for commercial use through its regular power lines to 400,000 consumers in the Greater Pittsburgh area.

The AEC will finance about $35,000,000 of the $85,000,000 total cost of the power plant, which will be operated by Duquesne Light. An atomic reactor, containing a 10-ton core of enriched uranium worth about $20,000,000 to provide heat, will be designed and constructed by Westinghouse Electric Corp. to power the plant.

The power plant will produce enough electricity to serve a community of nearly 500,000 persons.

The Shippingport plant is part of an estimated $241,500,000 program to be financed by the federal government to develop economically competitive atomic power in the United States within the next 10 years.

Golconda Woman Dies

Kiwanis Players Offered Prizes In Ticket Sale

Players who are participating in the Kiwanis leagues this summer are offered prizes for selling the most tickets to the Harrisburg Drive-In theatre program next Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 1 and 2. All receipts from the theatre on those two days will go to the club's summer baseball program and boys who have benefited from the games are urged to assist the club in selling tickets.

Individual prizes will be offered and first will be a Mickey Mantle glove; second a pair of Mickey Mantle baseball shoes, and third a Louisville Slugger bat.

Boys may receive their tickets at Ronnie's studio.

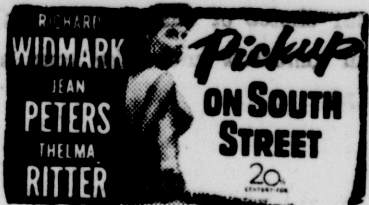

The Drive-In program will be a double feature with one of the pictures especially secured by the Kiwanis club. It will be "Pride of St. Louis," film of the life of Dizzy Dean, former great St. Louis Cardinal pitcher.

IN THE CIRCLE—Gil Hodges poses with the tools of his trade after hitting the 200th homer of his major league career. The Brooklyn first sacker reached that number with his 30th of the season—the fifth straight year he has hit that many.

930 Athletes Entered in European Games

BERNE, Switzerland (AP)—Czechoslovakia's amazing Emil Zatopek and Russia's ambitious band of athletes were the central figures today as the European Track and Field Games got underway with official ceremonies and the finals in three events.

A total of 930 athletes from 28 countries are entered, in the competition in 35 events, Russia submitting the greatest number of entries with 74 in an effort expected to show how strong the Soviets will be in the 1956 Olympic games in Melbourne.

Swiss President Rodolphe Rubattel was to preside over the ceremonies at Neufeld Stadium to inaugurate the five-day tournament. Zatopek, the Czech army officer who holds 10 world records for long distance running, ranks as a prohibitive favorite in one of today's three final events—the 10,000-meter run. His wife Dana, who joined with him for a total of four gold medals in the 1952 Olympic games at Helsinki, is one of the favorites in another, the women's javelin throw.

Zatopek, whose face twists in a grimace of apparent pain as he runs, set a new world's record for 10,000 meters on June 1 in Czechoslovakia with a clocking of 28 minutes, 54.2 seconds. Dana won the Olympic title in the women's javelin.

A total of 23 runners are entered in today's other final event, the 42,195-meter—25.2 mile marathon, with the Finns, Russians, and Portuguese expected to dominate the event.

Preliminary competitions are scheduled in seven other events, among them the men's 100-meter dash, women's high jump, men's hop, step and jump, men's 110-meter high hurdles, and men's 400-meter run.

Wait several days before washing new linoleums. Then use a lamp cloth or mop and plenty of thick soapsuds. Rinse the linoleum thoroughly and allow to dry completely.

Konstanty Denies 'Hard Feelings' Led to His Sale

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Konstanty denied any knowledge today of "hard feelings" with Manager Terry Moore of the Philadelphia Phillies leading up to his sale to the New York Yankees.

Moore revealed last Sunday when Konstanty's sale to the Yankees was announced that he deceived the Phillies into believing he was an interim manager "in order to find out which players would support me."

Coming immediately on the heels of Konstanty's sale, Moore's comment led to speculation that the one-time "Most Valuable Player" in the National League had failed "to put out" for Moore.

Konstanty grinned and shook his head with surprising good nature when asked about the implied criticism.

"It never crossed my mind," he said. "And now that it's brought up, I still can't imagine how anybody could believe that about me. Everybody knows I've never broken a curfew in my career and they know I don't drink, so Moore couldn't possibly have been referring to me," Konstanty continued. "It was just a coincidence that they sold me and Moore happened to make such a comment on the same day."

Konstanty, who was the toast of the National league when he compiled a 16-7 record and pitched in 74 games for the pennant-winning Phillies of 1950, has started only one game this year but says "I'm ready for any assignment Casey Stengel gives me."

Giardello Named Top Contender Of Middleweights

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Giardello of Philadelphia regained top berth among contenders in the busy middleweight division today in the Ring magazine's monthly ratings. He rose from second place because of Rocky Castellani's defeat by champion Carl (Bobo) Olson in their recent title fight. Cleveland Rocky dropped to second rung.

Giardello had been top man when upset by Pierre Langlois at Madison Square Garden May 21. That defeat cost him the No. 1 perch.

Sad news came from the welterweight ratings, which dropped veteran Billy Graham of New York out of the top 10 for the first time since 1947. His loss to Chris Christensen of Denmark caused the elimination. Carmen Basilio of Canastota, N. Y., still heads the welter contenders.

In the lightweight division, Ralph Dupas—only 19—rose from third to second, just behind ex-champ Jimmy Carter. Victories over Armando Savoie and Bobby Woods moved Dupas up. Orlando Zulueta of Cuba dropped from second to third because of inactivity.

Six Clubs in Both Leagues In All Out Battle to Finish in Fourth Place

By MILTON RICHMAN United Press Sports Writer

The lambs' share of the World Series money is nothing like the lions' share, but it's enough to cause six clubs in both leagues to push, sweat and strain today in an all-out effort to finish fourth.

Detroit, Boston and Washington don't give a collective hoot who wins the American league pennant, they're too busy battling for fourth place.

Likewise, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and St. Louis are engaged in a National league battle royal for possession of the last berth in the first division.

Realizing that a fourth-place finish could mean as much as $1,000 to every player, particularly if the Indians and Giants meet in the World Series, the Tigers grimly held on to fourth place by one game by beating the Red Sox, 8-7, Tuesday night.

Boston in Fifth Place
The Detroit victory left Boston in fifth place, only two games ahead of Washington, which bowed to Chicago, 4-0.

A mere half game separates the Phils, Redlegs and Cardinals in their private war. Cincinnati, trying to crash the first division for the first time in 10 years, was mauled by Brooklyn, 12-4, Tuesday night, the Dodgers remaining four games behind the pace-setting Giants, who defeated the Cubs, 5-1. Milwaukee topped Philadelphia, 5-1, and Pittsburgh edged St. Louis, 8-7.

The Yankees climbed to within

By BILL MELTON

Was talking with Jack Archer, Carterville coach, who formerly was at Thompsonville, at the coaching clinic at Carbondale last Thursday evening and the conversation got around to the startling upset his basketball team pulled by defeating heavily favored Herpin in regional tourney play last March.

"Your boys sure surprised Herpin, didn't they?" I asked. "Yes," replied Archer, "but do you know who they surprised even more than Herpin?" The answer was "so" and Archer said "Archer, but he sure enjoyed it."

Incidentally, most of the team were underclassmen and will be back for another year at Carterville.

ANSWERS TO THE SPORTING NEWS BASEBALL QUIZ

1. Jack Harshman had 36 homers to lead the Western International in 1947 and 47 to lead the Southern Association.

2. Johnny Cooney of the Milwaukee Braves pitched in the National League from 1921 through the first month of 1930 and came back to the majors as an outfielder in 1935 with Brooklyn, closing his major league career in 1944 with the New York Yankees.

3. Johnny Sain led the National League hitters in sacrifice hits (16) in 1948, becoming the first pitcher in the history of the league to lead in this department and also the first major league pitcher to win undisputed possession of the title.

4. Chet Nichols' father, Chester Nichols, pitched for Pittsburgh in 1926-27; Giant s, 1928, and Phillies, 1931-32, and won one game and lost eight.

5. Sam Mele has never pitched in a major league game. Dark pitched one inning in 1952. Musial one inning in 1952 and Williams two innings in 1940.

Football is really crowding into the local sports picture. HTHS Coach Caluffetti has issued equipment to candidates for the Bull Dog squad—the past two days being used for that purpose. Tomorrow physical exams will be given.

At Eldorado Coach Adams has also been getting equipment issued and lining up physicals.

There will be lots of action next Monday, the first day under state high school rules for the start of grid practice.

With the recent rains the grid-irons should be in better shape than they were at the beginning of practice in 1953, but unless there is a big change, the weather is going to be just as hot.

More than 400 high schools in Illinois field football teams, according to the IHSAA. Regular 11-man football is played by 370 high schools, 20 will have eight-man teams and 30 will play the six-man type of football.

No team may play its first game earlier than Friday, Sept. 17, as IHSAA rules say all players must have engaged in a minimum of 90 minutes of actual field practice on each of 14 days preceding the first inter-school contest.

Manager Eddie Joost of the Athletics says there's really nothing to the job of managing a major league club. As quoted in The Sporting News, Joost says all you need is four great pitchers and eight guys hitting about .340. To pass on another baseball wise-crack, Walker Cooper once said: "I always enjoyed baseball. Not just the money, but the amount."

Four Cleveland pitchers now active have the honor of pitching at least 100 victories for the Indians. Mike Garcia reached the 100 mark when he beat Baltimore, August 15. Indian pitchers who also have 100 or more victories, says The Sporting News, are Bob Feller with 259, Bob Lemon with 159, and Early Wynn with 103.

There was one addition to the family by birth, Regina Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Riegel.
